District students score well on nation-wide tests

SAD #4 students scored at or above the national average in district-wide achievement tests administered in September.

The Scholastic Research Associates (SRA) test evaluates a student's skills in the areas of reading, math, language arts, reference materials, social studies and science. The test was administered in three half-day sessions to students in Grades 3, 5, 6, 7 and 8.

The test results indicate that in all areas except 3rd-grade math, SAD #4 students are progressing at or beyond the national pace.

According to Superintendent Dewaine Craig, the SRA tests are used primarily as a diagnostic tool for assessing an individual student's areas of strength and weakness.

Guidance helps students in growing up, counselors tell Board of Directors

The SAD #4 Board of Directors heard a presentation on the district's guidance programs at its regular meeting Monday night.

Guidance counselors David Walton, Sally Hamon and Dan Hart prepared displays describing, respectively, the district's elementary, middle school and high school guidance activities.

According to the counselors, the displays were intended to help the board members "in visualizing the developmental aspects of the Kindergarten through Grade 12 program that we are working on."

The three counselors also spoke briefly on the direction and perceived needs of the guidance programs at each level.

According to the "Guidance and Counseling Philosophy of SAD #4," which Mr. Walton described as "the first written example of a philosophy and model that the district has had," the purpose of the district's guidance activities "is to enhance the personal, academic and psychological growth of all students toward a socialized maturity."

Mr. Walton said the district's guidance programs are not targeted only at students with problems, but are there to help all students deal with growing up.

"As human beings we all have developmental needs," he said.

Director John Foster, Andover, complimented the guidance staff on their work. "The work you are doing is very important," he said. "It makes a difference not only to the kids that you see, but throughout the whole school."

In other action at Monday night's meeting, board member Rex Thurston, Andover, was appointed to the board of

Skiway taking to the airwaves to guide skiers in resort area

Skiers approaching Sunday River Ski Resort will soon have a much easier time deciding where to park and where to look for the many other services they need. Simply by tuning their car radios to 90 on the AM dial, skiers coming in on the Access Road will be able to pick up the skiway's own radio station, which will give them up-to-the-minute information on what parking lots are full, where to go to rent skis, sign up for ski school or drop off the kids.

The radio station is another first for Sunday River.

"There's a similar system at Disneyworld," Advertising Manager David Sysko said, "and in the Boston Harbor tunnels," but as far as we know this is the first of its kind at a ski area."

The low-power station will be heard only along the Access Road and on a small section of the Sunday River Road.

According to Sysko, the system has already been successfully tested. It can be heard clearly along the designated stretch of roadway, he said, but it fades out almost immediately as you leave that area.

The skiway hopes to erect a sign at the beginning of the Access Road to tell skiers about the station, but, ironically, the idea for the station grew out of the difficulty the skiway was having in obtaining approval for more signage.

800 utilize Adult Ed programs in fall term

The SAD #4 Adult and Community Education office is finally experiencing a welcome period of relative calm as most of the fall general enrichment classes are ending. The fall semester has been exceptionally busy, with 800 different individuals taking part in programs sponsored by SAD #4 Adult and Community Education this fall, according to Thelma Hemington, the secretary who tabulates registrations at the office.

Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell is now scheduling for the Winter/Chin Pover Special term, which will run from Jan. 11 to late February. This short term will feature an exciting array of one-session workshops, and a number of four- or five-week courses.

The full-length Spring Term will begin in early March. Anyone with courses to suggest is asked to pass on ideas to Mrs. Newell, at 824-2780, as soon as possible.

The CareerSearch program, a new feature this fall, continues to develop under the direction of Adult Guidance Counselor Merrill Bittner. CareerSearch is a program that combines a computer-assisted vocational and career guidance program, a computer-based instructional program on job search and employability skills, and individual guidance in developing self-assessment skills and formulating a plan of short- and long-term vocational and educational goals.

The CareerSearch process is especially useful for individuals seeking a first job, those seeking a change of career, or for those interested in identifying possibilities for further education. The process normally takes each participant between 10 and 20 hours over several weeks. Individual CareerSearch appointments may be scheduled by calling the Adult Education office, 824-2780.

W'stock Comprehensive Plan Committee still seeks more responses

Members of the Woodstock Comprehensive Plan Committee have an important message for town residents—send in your surveys.

At its regular meeting last Monday night, the committee extended the deadline for returning the comprehensive plan survey forms until the end of the month.

Chairman Paula Mills stressed the importance of the survey information in the development of the comprehensive plan. "What the townspeople tell us in the survey is what we will base comprehensive plan decisions on," she said. "The higher the response rate on the survey, the more accurately the final plan and ordinances will reflect the wishes of the town."

Four hundred thirty-two surveys were given out to voters on election day, and the deadline for returning the comprehensive plan survey forms until the end of the month.

Chief of the selectmen tonight (Tuesday) on the reasons for the man's decision to leave out of the competition. He will also recommend to the selectmen that the town re-advertise for the position. When the town first advertised, last summer, 15 candidates applied.

The town has now been without a police chief for five months. Mr. Lynch said, "The process is taking longer than we thought it would, and we're certainly disappointed it's taken this long."

The hills are alive with art

"The hills are alive with the sound of music," and with drama, dance, puppetry and other forms of art. And it's all thanks to the Mahosuc Arts Council, SAD #44, and Gould Academy.

The non-profit arts council, the school district and the local prep school are all to be thanked for bringing live performances of artists to the Bethel area.

Unlike most of the entertainment on TV or in the movie theaters, real art—such as the performances at Gould and Telstar this past week—does not dull the senses but awakens them. Real art does not turn its audiences into couch potatoes but involves them emotionally and intellectually. Real art—whether music, drama, poetry or visual art forms—takes the viewer or listener out of himself and affords insights into life, the universe, the human condition.

"Banjo Dan and the Midnight Plovers," presented by the Mahosuc Arts Council at Telstar, and "Figures of Speech Puppet Theater," presented by Gould Academy at the Bingham Auditorium, both delighted, entertained and enlightened their respective audiences. In fact, the Gould student body—which was required to attend the puppet performance—was so moved that the students gave the talented performers a standing ovation.

If you missed the past week's performances, make a mental note not to miss any of the future ones. Fortunately, the entities responsible for bringing the arts to the Bethel area will continue doing so—with your support.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

May I use your columns to reach some readers who might respond to a suggestion helpful to two elderly ladies—Bethel natives now nursing home patients—and hopefully to others away from Bethel and yearning for news of old home.

It takes little time to send a card or note—not just at holiday seasons, but anytime. Anyone reading this may have visited already with relatives or friends in nursing homes. If not, you eventually will. You find even the best homes can't avoid many lonely hours for their residents. Mail helps. The two special ladies I have in mind loved Bethel and miss it always.

Muriel Park Mason and Margaret Herrick Oakes, now in their 91st years, were daughters of leading law firm partners: Ellery Park and Judge Addison Herrick, and their gracious wives, Muriel, an only child, grew up on Church Street, in the big house next to the Congregational Church. Margaret, with an older sister now deceased, lived in a pleasant home (now that of the Cranes) in our Historic District.

Both married, but without children have few relatives now living—chiefly cousins. Muriel was widowed in 1971, and Margaret in 1970. Muriel has spent the past few years at Seaside Nursing Home, on Baxter Boulevard, Portland 04301. I do visit when I can, and write—she especially enjoys cards with Bethel views or her favorite animals—cats. Her nurses welcome this and often tell me to please keep mail coming as it helps her days. Her few visitors excepting myself and her attorney and one Bethel couple are the only ones to share Bethel memories with her. She was an outstanding English teacher at Gould during my years there. Attractive, dynamic, her students enjoyed [her] greatly. There must still be many of you from whom a card could arouse memories, or a note bring back interesting incidents. I know of none of you who have written or visited. Of course, visits, however brief, are big events in any nursing home. I know this very well, as I have visited many people for years—friends, relatives, acquaintances and clients I had during my social worker years.

Margaret, always lively and witty, has been away from Bethel many years—left for study in Boston after Gould, and then residing there, afterwards in Augusta with our state Health Dept. Then she retired in her own home, which she left for a nursing home in August of this year. Acutely arthritic and very deaf, care was needed and she finally went to Williams

Help postal carriers; keep walks ice-free

Ice-covered sidewalks and steps were the cause of injury to literally thousands of Postal Service employees last year, according to Bryant Pond Postmaster Frank Etti.

To the Editor:

To all SAD #44 residents: On Friday, Oct. 30, 1987, at the Citizens Community Conference for citizens of Andover, Bethel, Newry, Gilead, Greenwood, Woodstock, Albany, Mason and Upton, a group of about 20 citizens formed a committee to try to provide additional educational, social and recreational services for all ages. Since the conference, several members have started meeting weekly and have met twice so far. We decided as a group that we need more outside input from citizens of all towns and ages in SAD #44. Although we have come up with several ideas for what such an organization will entail and what resources are available, we need your ideas and opinions.

So, we are asking you as citizens what kind of interest you would have in such an organization, whether it be a community center or just a committee; what you would like to see for programs if such an organization existed, and also what kind of involvement you would offer to see its realization. We invite you to our next meeting, Dec. 3, at Casco Bank in Bethel, and invite your responses to: Box 357, Bethel, Maine 04217, or phone 824-2543 and 824-2420. We especially encourage the input of groups such as the Bethel Outing Club, recreation boards, senior citizens organizations, school, chamber of commerce, selectmen, Rotary, Friends of the Androscoggin, etc.

Health Facility, on Glenridge Drive, Augusta 04303. Staff shortages means only essential care [is given]. Aides do not have time to visit. Some old Augusta friends phone or come, but Williams is rather inconveniently located if one has no car.

She finds life hard to adjust to there—no one to share memories. Stanley Howe and I have both visited. She is intensely interested in our Historical Society. I have long enjoyed her friendship, which developed long after I too left Bethel, and we found ourselves occasionally in touch due to both working for state agencies. (I had known her parents well.) She is sad that she never moved back here and loves to talk about Bethel, familiar places she knew, and events.

If any who read this wish to follow my suggestion and write either or both (and may I urge everyone to remember in the same way [to urge] others whom you know and would like information, call me at 836-2343 or write to Box 44, West Bethel.

ice on steps and sidewalks has to be removed where carriers must walk." Postmaster Etti said he realizes it's not always easy to remove ice and snow, but carriers are not required to risk personal injury from unusual hazards to deliver the mail.

To allow a carrier to drive up to a curbside mailbox to deposit or collect mail without leaving his or her vehicle, rural or curbside boxes should be kept clear of snow, vehicles or other obstructions, the postmaster added.

BANJO DAN (right) AND THE MIDNIGHT PLOWBOYS captivated a Telstar auditorium audience Saturday night with traditional and non-traditional Bluegrass music. Presented by the Mahosuc Arts Council, the group played thoughtful songs and rousing songs and love songs and out-of-love songs and songs for the kids. The group resides in the Green Mountains of Vermont rather than the Bluegrass country of Kentucky.

WHILE ONE PUPPETEER (right) manipulates the star-crossed beauty Psyche, another puppeteer (mostly hidden) manipulates her two jealous sisters. The "Figures of Speech Puppet Theater" presented their rendition of the Greek myth "Cupid and Psyche" before an appreciative Gould audience last Thursday. The moral of the myth—in which Cupid and Psyche overcome the wrath of the jealous sisters as well as the anger of the jealous love goddess Venus—is that love conquers all. But divine intervention helps.

U.S. Ski Team here for training this week

Eight athletes and three coaches from the United States Ski Team will arrive at Sunday River Ski Resort this Saturday, Nov. 26, for a week of alpine and giant slalom training in preparation for the North American Trophy Series Races that start in Canada Dec. 6.

According to Bob Harkins, alpine operations manager of the U.S. Ski Team, these athletes have Olympic aspirations. "These are the top guys in the United States. It is very possible that a couple of these men could be Olympians in February," he said.

Presently, Sunday River has the most skiing terrain open in Maine or New Hampshire, according to skiway officials. The mountain is open from top to bottom, from the summit of Spruce Peak, dropping 1,700 vertical feet to the bottom chairlift.

Snowmaking crews continue to make snow around the clock as weather permits. Additional trails and lifts are expected to be open for the Thanksgiving weekend, officials said.

Citizens committee taking fresh look at zoning as land use tool

The Citizens Community Conference, of Oct. 30, generated a number of working committees, all with goals of dealing with issues critical to the future of the SAD #44 area.

One of these committees is the zoning committee, newly named P.L.A.N. (Positive Land Action Now). The goal of P.L.A.N. is to overcome fear and misunderstanding of zoning and to provide guidance in proactive land use planning that encourages balanced, orderly, controlled growth in the region.

Among the issues to be addressed by P.L.A.N. are the identification of current land use, looking at future use, availability of low-cost housing, and balance in growth and development. The committee seeks representation and input from all the communities of SAD #44.

Interested citizens (official or unofficial) are invited to attend the next meeting of P.L.A.N., which will be held Monday, Nov. 30, 7 p.m., at Telstar Regional High School.

Maine seems to be out as potential high-level nuclear waste repository

The U.S. Senate last week approved two amendments that suspend the search for a second nuclear waste repository for 20 years and would make it more difficult to locate a repository in Maine if the search were resumed.

The proposal suspending the search was sponsored by Senator J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., and supported by Maine Senators George Mitchell and Bill Cohen. It passed 63-30.

A separate amendment making it more difficult to locate a repository in Maine was sponsored by the two Maine senators and was adopted by voice vote. The Cohen-Mitchell amendment provides that the Department of Energy: "May no longer conduct research on locating a waste site in granite rock formations, such as those found in Maine; Must, when considering potential waste sites, take into account seasonal fluctuations in population, the proximity of the site to public drinking water supplies and the effect on Indian lands."

The Maine senators said these factors were ignored when the DOE earlier chose sites near Sebago Lake and Bottle Lake as potential repositories. Sebago Lake is the source of the Portland water supply and a heavy summer tourist area. The Bottle Lake area includes tribally owned land.

"I am pleased that the Senate has voted to postpone the search for a second site," Sen. Mitchell said. "As the DOE itself stated in May of 1986, there is no need for a second repository site. Once and for all, DOE has been directed to stop its search for a nuclear waste site in Maine."

Sen. Cohen, too, expressed satisfaction with the decision. "I am delighted that my colleagues saw the wisdom of these changes, which for all practical purposes mean that we will not have a [high-level] nuclear waste site in Maine in the foreseeable future. I hope that the members of the House will recognize the merits of our arguments and will concur with the Senate's action."

A special event this year will be "Christmas with the Masons," which will feature a 19th century celebration of this favorite holiday. This will be held in the Dr. Moses Mason House Museum and will feature a variety of old-time refreshments, decorations and music. The reception will begin at 6:30 p.m., with the meeting following at 7:30.

Among the attractions during the program portion of the meeting, in addition to the Christmas events, will be slides of old photographs made during the past year, as well as views of Society events in 1987. Everyone is invited to attend this meeting and reception.

The next issue of the "Bethel Courier" is currently being assembled and should be delivered to the printer soon. Anyone wishing a complimentary issue is invited to write the Society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Maine 04217, or call (207) 824-2908.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

Walk into the local Christian Science church this Thursday morning at 11 a.m. and you're likely to hear grateful accounts, thoughtfully shared, of modern-day Christian healing.

Each year the members of the First Church of Christ Scientist, at Berlin, N.H., and at the society at Alpine Street, Norway, offer a mid-week service of Thanksgiving to the community. Readings from the Bible and the textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by church founder Mary Baker Eddy, make up one portion of the service. The spontaneous sharing of accounts of healing and gratitude to God from the congregation make up the other.

Skiway radio station

To remedy that potential problem Sysko and Tim Smith, a broadcast engineer from Skowhegan, set at developing a simple radio station.

The station's broadcast loop consists of a 700-foot-long ground wire that touches to the grounded anchor wire two utility poles, Mr. Sysko said.

Central Maine Power has already provided the installation and the Ne selectmen have given verbal approval for it. (They are expected to formally approve it this week.) Because of the station's low power and limited range does not require licensing by the Federal Communications Commission.

Mr. Sysko said the exact programming for the station has yet to be worked out. "It's an information tool we developed as needs evolve," he said. Stay tuned.

With three base areas, four major parking areas, a wide variety of skier services available at various locations on the mountain, as well as recent major changes in the layout of roads, skiway officials were concerned that skiers would be confused about where to go and how to get there.

To remedy that potential problem, Sysko and Tim Smith, a broadcast engineer from Skowhegan, set about developing a simple radio station.

The station's broadcast loop consists of a 700-foot-long ground wire that attaches to the grounded anchor wires of two utility poles, Mr. Sysko said.

Central Maine Power has already approved the installation and the Newry selectmen have given verbal approval for it. (They are expected to formally approve it this week.) Because of the station's low power and limited range, it does not require licensing by the Federal Communications Commission.

Mr. Sysko said the exact programming for the station has yet to be worked out. "It's an information tool to be developed as needs evolve," he said.

Stay tuned.

CORRECTION

In The Citizen's winter recreation tabloid, there are three errors in the calendar of events. The ski promotions on Nov. 28, Dec. 21 and Feb. 12 are incor- rectly listed as being held at Sunday River. In actuality, they will be held at Mt. Abram. The Citizen apologizes for any inconvenience resulting from the in- correct information. Skiers relying on the calendar should note the corrections.

Test results

Unlike many other school districts, SAD #44 gives the tests in the beginning of the school year rather than in the spring. "We believe that the tests are more useful then, because the teachers have a full year to work with the student," Mr. Craig said.

The test also provides an unbiased perspective for looking at the work being done in a school district. Supt. Craig said, "The kids can be getting high marks, and the teachers might feel that they are effective," he said, "but you need someone who can tell you objectively what kind of a job you are doing."

The math performance of 3rd-grade students has been an area of persistent weakness since the district began administering the tests four years ago.

For example, 3rd-graders at the Crescent Park School scored at the 47th and 35th percentiles this year and last respectively, while 3rd-graders at the Woodstock Elementary School scored at the 24th percentile in 1986, but did raise their score to the 69th percentile this year. During the same period, the much smaller (and therefore statistically unreliable) classes at the Andover School scored well above the national average.

Overall math results for 3rd-graders in the district come in at the 46th percentile in 1986 and 47th this year.

This was the only area in which the district fell below the national average. According to Supt. Craig, analysis of test results for individual 3rd-graders reveals that the students are having most of their problems with word/number problems. To remedy this, math is now being introduced in the early grades, with new teaching techniques and a new textbook emphasizing these types of problems and relationships.

Another problem revealed by past testing—low scores by students who were in the combined classes at Andover—appears to have been overcome, Supt. Craig reports. The last of these students are now in the 7th grade, and while no group figures are available for them, their individual scores have now risen to the normal range, Mr. Craig said.

According to the superintendent, SAD #44's results on the SRA test are similar to those for the state as a whole, which indicate that Maine students are achieving at or above the national level in most areas.

In addition to the SRA test, the district also administers the state's Test of Basic Skills, which is given to 8th-graders in October, 11th-graders in February and 4th-graders in the spring.

Results of the 8th-grade tests are expected to be released next month, Mr. Craig said.

the Northern Oxford Vocational Area.

The position on the N.O.V.A. board had been vacant since last spring, when Kay Chadbourn resigned from the SAD #44 board to take a half-time teaching position.

Superintendent Dwayne Craig placed the N.O.V.A. vacancy on Monday night's agenda and urged the board to take some action on it.

Mr. Thurston then volunteered to take the assignment for one year. He was unanimously approved.

The board also agreed on Monday night to consider establishing its own goal statement.

Directo Richard Crandall, Bethel, suggested that at its next meeting the board begin to formulate and prioritize a specific set of goals.

"I feel that we're a reactive rather than proactive group," Mr. Crandall said, adding that many of the board's actions were initiated by the district administration.

The board agreed, without further comment, to take up the matter at its next meeting.

Woodstock School 1st-grade teacher Jolene Shimamura was introduced to the board at Monday's meeting. Mrs. Shimamura has been chosen as a semifinalist for the Maine Distinguished Teacher of the Year Award.

The board members applauded her accomplishment, and she in turn commended the board for providing an atmosphere conducive to the professional growth of teachers.

The board also made the following personnel appointments: Shirley Hodson

RETIREMENT HOME OPENS IN NORTH PARIS: William and Ruth Chick, formerly of Bridgton, have converted the old Bradford farmhouse, on Tuell Town Road, into a home for retirees. According to Mr. Chick, the home has been designed for people who can take care of themselves but who would prefer to have meals and basic services provided for them. The 140-year-old Bradford farmhouse had stood vacant for more than 10 years before the Chicks purchased it two years ago. "We were very fortunate that in all that time nothing had been vandalized," Mr. Chick said, "but things were still in pretty rough shape." The Chicks' restoration work recaptures the warmth and charm of a 19th century farmhouse, while still providing for all modern amenities. One of the most striking qualities of the homestead is the view from the back of the house—out across woods and fields to Moose Pond, West Paris Village and beyond into the White Mountains as far as Mount Washington.

I hope all our friends who spend the winter in Florida and other warm climates are all settling in before the holidays. The weather at this writing here is very cold and windy. Some towns received some white stuff, but it passed us by. We don't miss it.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Louis Martin and the family of Mrs. Madeline Tanner.

Eveline's all-season Christmas cactus has two lovely pink blossoms and it is just loaded with buds.

The tax bills have arrived. Mrs. Patricia Anderson and son David, Burlington, Mass., spent Saturday, Nov. 7, with Joe and Eveline Vatcher and her husband, Robert. The menfolk took to the woods, but no luck.

Eveline has been inside for a week on antibiotics for pneumonia in her right lung.

It will soon be time to talk turkey, or maybe even chicken.

Nathan Isley started therapy treatments at Stephens Memorial Hospital Friday, November 20 and he may need to go to Maine Medical Center for awhile. Always something.

Alfred Bernier, Lewiston, Lena Dean, Darcy Robertson called on the Joe Vatcher's.

received word that their nephew Freddie Coffin, of North Waterford, was hospitalized at the Kennebec Hospital in Augusta with a broken hip due to a fall on the ice. He drives an oil truck. His mother, Mrs. Gertrude Coffin, and sister, Patty Bean, visited him Nov. 18.

Scott Isley, who is a patient at AMHI at Augusta, is gaining slowly and expects to return home soon.

Mrs. Sandy Spence and three children went to Tyngsboro, Mass., Nov. 13 to attend her sister's, Laurie Reidy's, wedding to Ray Sideman in New Hampshire. They had 58 wedding guests for dinner at Jaccopis Restaurant in Tyngsboro, Mass. They went to the Hilton in Lowell, Mass., for their honeymoon. Laurie's parents, Joe and Norma Reidy, have a mobile home on the Trask Road here in town.

It has been a busy week for me as I work on crafts and Christmas gifts every minute I can. It sure takes more time to get things done than it used to. Must be I am getting slow in my old age. Of course, being dizzy, for some reason, hasn't helped the situation any but my fingers aren't as fast as they used to be.

Grace brought down some shells she had picked up in Florida some years ago and wanted them put together to display so spent one day doing that for her. I love to play with them and see how I can put them together to have them look pretty. She was real pleased with the results so that made me feel good. looks like another beautiful day though maybe not so warm as yesterday was. It was such a lovely warm day that we decided to take advantage of it and go to the city to do some Christmas shopping. May not get another day like that before next spring. Anyway, Peggy came down when Russell and I were doing our regular (warm up) exercises that we do each morning, and suggested that we go to Lewiston to do what shopping we wanted to do there. Russell decided he would make use of the day in a better way so stayed home and worked on a roof over the back door to help keep snow from coming in so much.

Peggy and I left a little before nine in the morning and went to Zayre's to do our shopping. It wasn't bad at all getting around as there weren't as many shoppers as there will be later. The register clerk told me the day before was a very busy one though, so guess shoppers are out in good force. After we got done shopping, we went to York Steak House for lunch and then went to visit some friends who are going to Florida to work. Didn't know for sure whether they had gone or not but found they hadn't. They are leaving today, instead. It was nice to visit with one of the ladies and the other one was out helping her son painting in a home he had built. We had a nice visit with Emily and hope they have a nice winter working. Wish we were going, also. How nice it would be to get out of the cold and snow again as I did for four winters. However, what is to be will be as the saying goes.

Went to see Dr. Jealous on Tuesday and had a treatment but my ribs have been out of place for so long I guess they don't think they should stay in place any more. They haven't, anyway.

I had let up on crocheting, knitting and sewing for a few days to see if it would help but it didn't so guess I might as well keep busy and get things done.

As I said at the beginning, Peggy and I went to Lewiston yesterday and spent the larger part of the day there. I hope everyone enjoyed the day the way we did. When we got home, I helped Russell in a few ways with his task. He has gone out to continue on it today so hope he has good luck and will help in any way I can and he knows he can call on me if he needs to.

Take care everyone and enjoy while you can. This good weather won't last. I'm afraid and we better enjoy it while we can. Good luck to all, and Happy Thanksgiving.

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

The Auxiliary Christmas Craft fair will be held Sat., Dec. 6, from 10 to 2 at the Greenwood Fire Station.

Roy and Claire Smith of Wallingford, Conn., have been spending a few days with Esther Farnum in South Paris and visited Vera Cross Wednesday evening.

The American Legion Auxiliary served a turkey dinner to the Retired Teachers of Maine at the Legion Home Saturday.

Charlotte Cole and Vera Cross had dinner and played cards with Dora and Elmer Dingley at West Paris Tuesday.

Elmer was celebrating his 87th birthday. The Ladies Circle sale put on Friday netted over $550, which was a goal they have been striving for and were pleased to reach.

If you missed the first fruit shipment and want fruit for Christmas, there will be an order coming before Christmas and some extra will be available.

The Locke Mills Church will put on their Christmas cantata with a tentative date of Dec. 20. It will be entitled Night of Miracles. Refreshments will be served by the Ladies Circle.

Reminder: There will be a Thanksgiving service on Wednesday evening, Nov. 25, at 7 p.m. at the Bethel Church of the Nazarene.

Margery and Harry Swan, Todd; Bruce, Debbie, Stacy, Josh Swan; Jeff, Dorothy, Rebecca and Doug Swan; and Marion Swan held their Thanksgiving dinner Sunday, Nov. 22.

It seems good to have the Marketplace open again. We wish them all success.

Songo Pond

By ALICE KIMBALL

Visitors here last weekend were Brandon Salway and Chris Kenney from USM; Kassi and Bernie Gatchell of Old Orchard Beach; and Dottie and Erin Adams of Hanover.

Mrs. Elmira Doyen has been confined to her home this week. Mary Jean Smith helped her one day and Winona Verrill was a caller Friday afternoon.

A lone loon and several ducks have been hanging out on the pond this week. Ice also has appeared around the edges. Some new construction is being done on shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lincoln of Hingham, Mass., are at the Lincoln home this weekend.

A Happy Thanksgiving and contentment to all.

I still find each day too short for all the thoughts I want to think, all the walks I want to take, all the books I want to read and all the friends I want to see.—Burroughs

Bethel

A pre-Thanksgiving gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gayland Doen. Attending were Robert, Robin and Erica Gundersen; Gary, Gail, Justin and Jessie Wight; Avis Doen; Gary Williamson; Sheri Doen; Kelly and John Scott. It was also to celebrate birthdays of Jessie Wight and John Scott. Mr. and Mrs. Scott have left for Cape Coral, Fla., where they will make their home.

Howard and Gen Gorham, Westbrook, his brother and sister-in-law from Connecticut, visited Joe and Muriel Gilbert Saturday.

Visitors at Irene Wilson's this week have been Edith Deegan, Kevin Alexander, Heather Gordon, Sandy, Amy and Seth Wilson.

During American Education Week, Leslie Moore visited Nathan's class on Tuesday and Jennie's class on Thursday and had lunch with them.

Mare, Leslie, Nathan and Jennie Moore enjoyed the Figures of Speech Puppet Theater at Gould Thursday evening.

Leah Deegan is home from a trip to California visiting Hank, Kathy and grandson Danny Lessard. Leah was at the Legion in Locke Mills helping to prepare a dinner when I called Saturday, so don't have any details on her trip.

Florence Beck's house arrived and was set up this week. It will be ready for occupancy soon.

Ray, Janice and Patrick Harrington planned to leave Saturday afternoon for Atlanta, Ga., where they will be having Thanksgiving dinner with Robbie and Kathy Harrington on Sunday and attending Robbie's graduation from the Atlanta Police Academy Monday evening. Congratulations, Robbie. The Harringtons expect to be home Tuesday morning.

Meador and Sons Funeral Home whose main business is in Rumford has established a new operation in Norway of which Ray Harrington is general manager. Ray has been very busy in his new employment as people have been very responsive and welcoming.

Fred Haines got a 7 point buck last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hastings, with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Morton of Hanover, went to Windham for a pre-Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Coolidge of Quincy, Mass. visited Mr. and Mrs. Almon Coolidge last weekend.

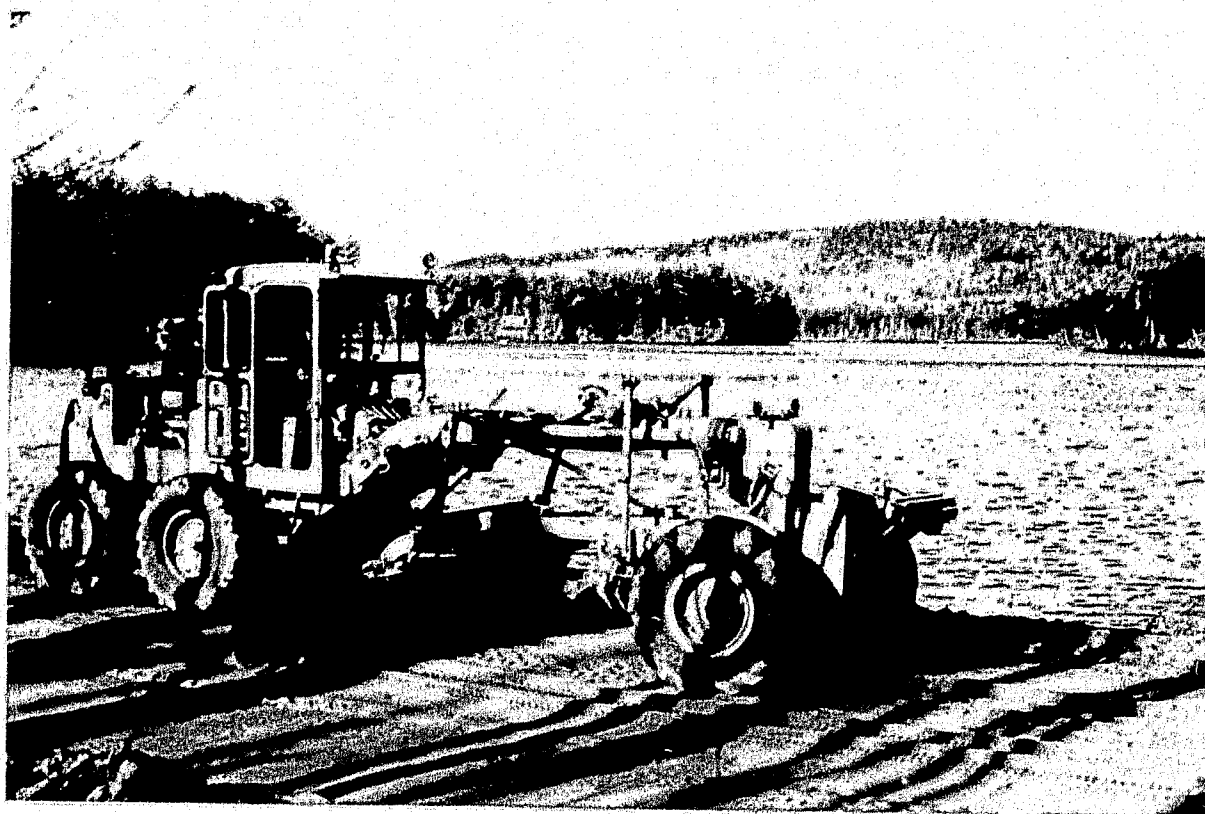

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Smith of Bucksport were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Harrington last week.

Carlton Tyler and a friend of Carmel were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tyler and worked on Leonard's car.

Mrs. Chester Kimball and Mrs. Andre Bernier were in Norway Christmas shopping last week.

John Foster of Andover and Rob Festino of Saco called on me November 14. Richard Stearns of Rumford Corner and Dan Stearns of Rumford Point called on me November 16 and filled the woodbox. They had been hunting across the field. John Foster of Andover was here November 17 and put on Albert's storm windows and put brush around the house. On November 18 Mrs. Richard Stearns of Rumford Corner took me shopping in Lewiston and Rumford. Mrs. Josephine Tyler of Dixfield; Mrs. Cindi Cox and Miss "Chick" Fitzmorris visited me the evening of November 19 and we played "Hand and Foot Canasta," as well as chat.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Glines, Jonathan and Jolyn visited Helen Ring over the weekend.

SCRAPING SMOOTH THE MOGULED MILE: Greenwood Highway Commissioner Raymond Seames grades a section of the Greenwood Road along the edge of Round Pond. The town's highway crew has torn up the pavement on a particularly rough 1200-foot section of the road and spread a new gravel surface. The gravel will be allowed to settle through the winter, Seames said, and the road will be repaved in the spring. Seames estimates that the spring floods set the town's road repair schedule back about seven weeks, but that "weather permitting" the last of the damage will be repaired before winter sets in. Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here is a description of the palace of Versailles:

"This gorgeous mansion of the monarchs of France presents a front eight hundred feet in length, and has connected with it fifteen projecting buildings of spacious dimensions, decorated with Ionic columns, constituting almost a city in itself. One great gallery, adorned with statues, paintings, and architectural embellishments, is nearly two hundred and fifty feet long. Many gorgeous salons, furnished with the most costly splendor, a banquet hall of the most spacious dimensions, an opera house and a chapel combine to lend attractions to this royal abode such as few other earthly mansions can rival. The gardens, in the midst of which this voluptuous residence reposes, are equal in splendor to the palace they are intended to adorn." —John Abbott

Nicholas and Maria Clements have talked recently with their son and daughter-in-law in Sunnyvale, California. Bruce has been thinking about furthering his education but is having second thoughts, as his friend Kurt Hunter reports that it is difficult to work full time and keep up with your studies. Kurt is studying at Santa Clara University. Both Bruce and Kurt work for Lockheed Corporation in California.

Maria Clements, Mary Mielon of Buckfield and Jan Peaslee of Portland were in Lewiston and Auburn recently dining and shopping for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Verrill of So. Lancaster, and also Alan Verrill were home over the week and visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. Leon Verrill.

Esther and Olive Davis were in Lewiston Monday to Dr. Tchao's office again.

The tame deer is roaming again. If a deer stands and looks at you don't shoot. Only a tame deer will do that. This is a doe, too.

Many are heading for Florida. They won't have to shovel snow but it has winds that cut through you at times so plan for some warm clothing for those days.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks, Esther Davis and I were at the Historical Society at Bryant Pond Saturday night. The next meeting will be held at the new school building at 6:00. Pot luck supper will be served before the 7 o'clock meeting.

The hunters are working hard but automobiles seem to be the one knocking them off. Almost every day some deer are run into.

Our Franklin Grange meeting will be held December 21. We go on one meeting a month then until April. It will be the third Monday from December to April. Then we return to the first and third Monday during the summer and fall months.

We may glorify God with prayer, Charles F. Ketterling was a chief engineer of General Motors. In his time, he was the greatest man in America in the field of mechanics. At a banquet a man asked him, "Mr. Ketterling, what is the most important thing you ever did with these hands was to fold them in prayer to my heavenly father."

We too, can earn rewards up there by spending time down here in prayer. Prayer is not so much submitting ourselves to him.

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

The Selectmen met Tuesday morning, November 10. Robin Zinchuk and Mac McBurn, from the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce met with them to explain what the Chamber was doing for the area and to get input from the Selectmen as to what they thought the Chamber should do. She explained that the Chamber had limited funds and felt there should be a substantial increase in the budget for next year if they should continue to function properly. Volunteers are needed to help with such duties as answering the phone, etc. Erecting and lighting a community Christmas Tree was discussed and selectman, Lee Swan, suggested that the Newry Mothers Club and the Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club might be interested in putting up and decorating the tree.

Road Commissioner, Marshall Fleet, announced that the new Town Truck was ready. He went to Skowhegan last week and got the truck where it had been taken to have the body mounted. Cost of the body, plow, wing, sander and plow mounting was $26,884. Bringing the total cost to approximately $52,000. It was voted to keep the old truck for the present until it is decided what to do with it. At a meeting of the Selectmen and Fire Department committees last month it was suggested that the plow and body be removed from the old truck and a tank and pump be mounted on it for the Fire Department.

Jonathan Smith reported more findings on what type of a computer the town would need to do the taxes and possible expansion to other uses for the town. It is expected that the voters will be asked to authorize the purchase of a computer and appropriate money to pay for same at the Annual Town Meeting next March.

Guest of Stephen Yates last weekend was his "best friend" Michael Schildroth, Westbrook. Both enjoyed the hunt and the usual good times. "The brownies were the best ever made."

At last week's selectmen's meeting, Bryce Yates came in to discuss changes in the valuation of his property. He requested a refund on his taxes because they were paid during the discount period but the discount was not applied.

The office is open Monday through Thursday, 8-4, and on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, 6-8. Please note that the office will only be open on Wednesday, Nov. 25, in the morning, and will be closed Nov. 26 and 27 for Thanksgiving vacation.

IT'S IN THE BOX: Dan Marois, of Stephens Memorial Hospital, demonstrates to the Bethel Rotary Club, the magic boxes the hospital is now providing for elderly people living alone. In an emergency, the person can activate the box with a remote control unit. The box then dials a central switchboard where a responder calls the person to find out the nature of the emergency. If the person does not answer the phone, the central switchboard sends help. Civic organizations in the area have been purchasing the units and donating them to local senior citizens.

Revised tax laws can affect landowners who deduct conservation work

Recent changes in the federal tax law mean changes for taxpaying Maine farmers and other landowners using conservation practices.

"The Internal Revenue Service code regarding deductions for soil and water conservation expenditures now limits deductible expenses to practices consistent with an approved conservation plan," says Charles Whitmore, state conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

"Such a plan can be the traditional SCS-approved conservation plan, a plan approved by a comparable state agency, or a new 'County Plan'," Mr. Whitmore said.

County Plans have been prepared, listing approvable practices that meet a conservation need and can be applied by farmers with or without SCS assistance.

"A waterway, for example, generally can be installed by a farmer in a technically sound manner," Whitmore says. "Waterways, in fact, are eligible for tax deduction in all 16 Maine counties."

Copies of the County Plans are available to taxpayers in local SCS offices.

PURITY CHAPTER TO MEET

Purity Chapter #102 O.E.S. will hold their stated meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 2, Christmas smorgasbord at 7:30; exchange of gifts. Officers should wear colored gowns.

Expenses for conservation practices not on the County Plan are deductible only if the work is part of an individual conservation plan prepared or approved by SCS or an appropriate state agency.

The Soil Conservation Service is a technical agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. All services and programs of SCS are offered on a non-discriminatory basis, without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, marital status, or handicap.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 revised Section 175 (c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Service tax code, limiting deductible conservation expenses. Previously, deductions for conservation costs were less defined and less certain.

Responsibility for certifying that an expense is based on the county plan or site-specific conservation plan lies with the taxpayer. Form 6045, available from the Internal Revenue Service, is used for this deduction claim.

Details regarding interpretation of claims are in the April 4, 1987 edition of Code of Federal Register, Chapter 1, Internal Revenue Service.

MSAD #44 Superintendent's Newsletter

Doraine B. Craig

I am in each school building every week and I cannot think of a time when I have not found a volunteer busy working with students. You might think of school volunteers as mothers who work with teachers on classroom parties. Well, that does still happen, but much more is happening within SAD #44 on a daily basis.

In my various building visits each week I have seen parents and grandparents working with students in the following ways: at computers, in the school library, running off worksheets, putting up bulletin boards, working with small groups in math and reading, working on art projects, playing skill building games with students, working with students on a one-to-one basis, and assisting the teachers in many other ways. Volunteers are also very involved with bake sales, food drives for needy families, bottle drives, field trips, after school athletic events, after-school academic activities (such as Olympics of the Mind), arts council, and various other fund-raising and enrichment projects.

As you can tell, a lot of volunteer work is taking place within the schools, especially at the elementary level. We can always use more volunteers. Volunteers can also be of great assistance at the Middle School and High School level. Volunteers can be a parent, grandparent, retired person, any interested individual who wishes to share their time with students. Many of you may have a special talent which could enhance a student's life. Many of you may say you don't have any special skills. Just being willing to spend time working with students, listening, helping with math or reading, assisting in any way can be a rewarding experience for both the student and the volunteer.

As Superintendent of Schools, I would like to say "Thank you" to the many individuals who are currently volunteers within SAD #44 schools. It is greatly and sincerely appreciated by staff and students alike.

Another area where volunteers are needed is within the Adult Education program for the Project Literacy program. If you are interested in working in SAD #44 as a volunteer, please contact either the school office or the Adult Education office and leave your name, telephone number, and special interest area if any. I look forward to seeing you within our schools. The telephone numbers for the various schools are: Ambler Elementary School, 222-4381; Crescent Park School, 824-2839; Ethel Busbee School, 824-2746; Woodstock School, 824-2252; Telstar Middle School, 824-3306; Telstar High School, 824-2136; and the Adult Ed office, 824-2788.

Local historian to lecture on Franklin County history

An overview of western Maine's historic resources and highlights of specific sites and structures in Franklin County will be the subject of an upcoming slide program by Randall H. Bennett, project director of the Franklin County Historic Resource Survey. Mr. Bennett will speak at the regular monthly meeting of the Wilton Historical Society, to be held Dec. 2, at 7 p.m., in the American Legion Hall at Wilton. Begin in July, the Franklin County Historic Resource Survey follows closely behind a similar survey of Oxford County, whose findings were published in book form earlier this year. Sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society and funded through a U.S. Department of the Interior, National Park Service grant, the survey seeks to document important historic resources throughout Franklin County.

The director of the Franklin County Historic Resource Survey, Mr. Bennett is also curator of collections for the Bethel Historical Society.
